WORLD CHAMPION TENNIS PLAYER DOES IN ENGLAND AS ENGLISH DO

William T. Tilden, 2nd, having ten in England. "When in England do as the English do" is regarded a wise philosophy by William T. Tilden, 2nd, of Philadelphia, who is shown taking tea at one of England's fashionable homes after having won highest honors at the recent tennis tournament at Wimbledon. Tilden now enjoys the distinction of being the world's champion tennis player.

VILLA SURRENDER UNCONDITIONAL

Acceptance; Terms Stated

MEXICAN CITY.—(By United Press.)—Francisco Villa, telegraphed President De La Huerta to surrender unconditionally, it was announced at the war ministry Tuesday.

Villa had captured Salinas in the state of Chihuahua from where he telegraphed De La Huerta. Villa declared he had moved from Chihuahua because he mistrusted officials there and wished to surrender in Coahuila. Villa notified De La Huerta that railway traffic in Coahuila had been interrupted and asked that from he should surrender.

De La Huerta replied stating Villa's surrender was acceptable on condition that he repair the railroads he had destroyed. He was told to report to General Eugenio Martinez at Torreon. It was declared today Villa had already reported to Martinez and had given assurance his force was ready to execute government orders.

Villa had previously offered to surrender and recognize the De La Huerta government but his offer was rejected because the conditions he laid down were not acceptable. A cavalry force numbering 3,000 government troops was pursuing him in Chihuahua when his unconditional offer to surrender was received today.

G.O.P. GUNS SOON TO OPEN UP

Harding Fireworks Expected to Start As Cox Begins Stumping

MARION, O.—(By United Press.)—Warren G. Harding is considering abandoning his favorite recreation of golf altogether, or at least for the present, it was learned here Tuesday.

Only the need of exercise and relaxation has kept him at the game at all recently, it was stated. The press of work connected with the presidential campaign and the inaccessibility of golf courses near Marion have led the candidate to consider abandoning his frequent trip to the links.

Harding headquarters are working quickly on plans for the campaign, but the real political fireworks probably will not start until after the state primaries early next month. Harding's guns will open up about the time Cox begins his stumping tour and from then on an active bombardment will be conducted from Marion.

The front porch campaign really begins Saturday when a delegation from Mansfield, Ohio, will call on Harding. Another delegation will come August 4 from Wayne Co., Ohio, and six or eight other localities have filed applications for dates which will be announced probably Tuesday.

Harding's managers expect to have at least one or two delegations a week until the campaign warms up, when the visitors will grow more numerous.

MOORE, FAMOUS CLOWN, KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

DENVER, Colo.—Lon Moore, famous clown with the Sells-Floto Circus, was killed and another member of his automobile party was injured when the machine was wrecked in Bear Creek Canyon, near Evergreen, Colo., Tuesday. Charles Hites, Akron, a concessionaire with the circus, was taken to the Denver hospital suffering with several crushed ribs and spinal injuries. He is not expected to survive. Moore's home was in Defiance, Ohio.

The car plunged off Looking-Glass Curve down a 200-foot embankment to the creek.

FOUR DIE IN CRASH.
ST. LOUIS.—Four men were killed and a fifth escaped by jumping, when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by an electric train on a grade crossing, near Mitchell, Ill., early Tuesday.

Two Brothers Die Together Under Train

CINCINNATI, O.—Bernard and Joseph Hushcha, brothers who lived in Covington, Ky., and were employed as switchmen by the Louisville and Nashville railroad, were killed Tuesday. Without each other's knowledge they had been made members of the same switching crew. They met on top of a car and spoke of the coincidence of working together. The train gave a sudden lurch, threw the brothers off their balance and they fell beneath the wheels. They died at a hospital within a short time of each other.

OHIO G.O.P. GETS INTO SNARL

Advisory Committee Head Resents Criticism of Plans

COLUMBUS, O.—(By Associated Press.)—"Success invites criticism and is expected," George H. Clark, chairman of the Republican state advisory committee, declared in a statement, answering criticism of the present organization of the Republican state machinery, by George A. Stauffer, Ottawa, secretary of agriculture, under former Governor Willis.

Stauffer intimated that after the primaries, efforts will be made by certain Republicans to wrest control of the state organization from the new in charge.

He said "there was a feeling among the rank and file of Republicans that the Republican organization needs reorganizing."

"Theoretical policies must give way to practical methods, that have brought success to the Democratic party," Stauffer declared.

Chairman Clark's statement declares: "The first duty of all Republicans is to elect those splendid Americans, Harding and Coolidge, and the nominees of the Republican party—state, district and county."

The co-ordination and organization of the men and women who believe in Republican principles, who have vision and hope for better things, goes forward without proclamation or parade.

"Success invites criticism and is expected. With open ear to constructive suggestions and inviting now as always, the cooperation of all interested Republicans in party success, that victory may be doubly assured, the committee goes forward unafraid."

DEFENDS RECORD

Ralph D. Cole Attempts to Show He Is Labor's Friend

COLUMBUS.—(By United Press.)—Ralph D. Cole, Republican candidate for nomination for governor, was out Tuesday with a defense of his labor record which had been attacked in circulars sent to Republican voters.

Both Cole and his headquarters workers have answered the labor charges by declaring Cole, while a member of the state legislature and of congress, voted for all important labor measures.

They also answered the statement that he has in a legal capacity been representing the Ohio Cities Gas Company.

"That is true," declared Cole, "but I am not a tool of the corporations. I have represented murderers, but I am not a robber. I have represented persons charged with various crimes, but I am not a criminal."

CANADA RAIL PAY RAISED
OTTAWA.—The scale of wage increases granted to United States railway men will be applied to the Grand Trunk system through Canada within the next two weeks, according to Ottawa Journal. The increases on the Canadian lines will likely be retroactive to May 1, as were the awards in the United States last week, it was said.

PLANTS PERILED AS MINERS QUIT

COOLIDGE SCORNS CLASS LAWS

Scores Reactionary Methods in Acceptance Speech

BIG CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

Massachusetts College City Packed for Notification

NORTHAMPTON, Mass.—(By Associated Press.)—Rescue from the reactions of war was described as the transcendent need of the nation in the address which Governor Coolidge delivered here Tuesday in accepting formally the Republican nomination for vice president. "The chief task that lies before us," he said, "is to repossess the people of their government and their property."

Governor Coolidge found another source of grave public concern to be "the reactionary tendency to substitute private will for the public will."

He said there had been disposition on the part of some individuals and groups to inquire whether they liked the law, and if not, to disregard it and prevent its execution by the method of direct action.

"The observance of the law," he said, "is the greatest solvent of public ills." He deplored attempts to create class distinctions.

SCENE OF NOTIFICATION
The scene of the notification was Allen Field, the recreation ground of Smith College, a natural amphitheatre. A platform large enough to accommodate only the speakers and a few distinguished guests, was erected at one end of the field and on the grassy slopes before it the great assemblage stood through the exercises.

This college city was decorated with the national colors and pictures of the government were displayed everywhere. All business was suspended during the afternoon and the city was crowded with visitors from the adjoining "hill town" section of Massachusetts. Special trains brought delegations from Boston and neighboring states.

Governor Coolidge heard from Governor Edwin P. Morrow, of Kentucky, the formal announcement of his nomination "by the spontaneous wish" of the party. "The west called to the east," Governor Morrow said. "North and south heard the call and the nation made answer."

Discussing economic relations, Governor Coolidge declared the extravagant standards of government expenditure bred of recent years must be eliminated and a revision of taxation be accompanied by a reduction of private extravagance. He urged a different attitude toward industry, a larger comprehension of the interdependence of capital, management and labor, and better facilities for the prompt and reasonable adjustment of industrial disputes. The need of the farmers he said, is an enlarged power of organization whereby the original producer may profit to a larger degree by the high prices paid for his produce by the ultimate consumer and at the same time decrease the cost of his goods.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS
"The proposed league of nations without reservations as submitted by the president to the senate, met with deserved opposition from Republican senators," said Governor Coolidge. "Our party by the record of its members in the senate and by the solemn declaration of its platform, by performance and promises approves the principle of agreement among nations to preserve peace, and pledges itself to the making of such an agreement, preserving American independence and rights, as will meet every duty America owes to humanity. This language is purposely broad, not exclusive, but inclusive. The Republican party is not narrow enough to limit itself to one idea, but wise and broad enough to provide for the adoption of the best plan that can be devised at the time of action."

"Your presence tells me," said Governor Coolidge in opening his remarks, "of a leader and a cause in Warren G. Harding, the united choice of a united party, a statesman of ability, seasoned by experience, a fitting representative of the common aspirations of his fellow citizens, wise enough to seek counsel, great enough to recognize merit, and in all things a stalwart American." He declared in the platform of the Republican party, the defense of our institutions from every assault, the restoration of constitutional government, the maintenance of law and order, the relief of economic distress, the encouragement of industry and agriculture, the enactment of humanitarian laws; the defense of the rights of our citizens everywhere, the rehabilitation of this nation in the estimation of all peoples, under an agreement, meeting our every duty, to preserve the peace of the world, always with unyielding Americanism—under such a leader, such a cause, "I serve."

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va.—An automobile driven by Tony Melles, Greek chauffeur, plunged over a 45-foot embankment near here Tuesday killing Dorothy Nutter, of Wheeling, instantly. Four other occupants of the car were injured. Two of them, one from Wheeling, are in the local hospital.

Thief Robs Girl Of Her Hair While She Sleeps

CANTON, O.—Miss Millicent Kelly Massillon, was wearing her hair bobbed Tuesday, but not because she wanted to.

Some one entered her room while she was sleeping Monday night and cut off her long blond tresses just below the ears.

The thief left a trail of locks on the roof of the porch where he climbed to gain entrance to the house and in the yard where police lost the trail.

FRENCH BALK ON RED TRUCE

Envoys May Not Attend London Peace Conference

POLES TO MEET SOVIET

Fighting Continues Along the Entire Eastern Front

LONDON.—(By United Press.)—Russian-Polish armistice negotiations will begin on Friday at Barmovitch, in the province of Grodno, between Minsk and Pinsk, a Moscow wireless dispatch Tuesday announced.

Hostilities will cease immediately upon opening of the negotiations, the dispatch said.

Warsaw dispatches said the Polish armistice commission had already left that city to meet Bolshevik field commanders without knowing where or at what date the negotiations were to be conducted.

The armistice line will run along the general line fixed by the allies at Spa.

Premier Lloyd George has left for Boulogne, where he will confer with Premier Millerand, Marshal Foch and other French military and government officials regarding the Russian-Polish situation. It was believed this conference might result in tacit approval of the Russian soviet government without granting formal political recognition.

COPELINS WITH REBIDS
It was believed the British premier would endeavor to persuade the Frenchmen to attend the proposed Russian-Polish peace negotiations soon to begin at London. The British premier's sudden decision to confer with the French officials, followed receipt of a telegram dated from Grodno, Tuesday, Bolshevik foreign minister, suggesting a conference of all the allies at London to consider the Polish situation.

The tone of this dispatch was declared to be dictatorial and unsatisfactory to the British government. The armistice line will run along the proposed conference at London from the Polish question and to make the conference a round table at which negotiations could be conducted looking to peace between Russia and the allies. The note declared the Moscow government sought to establish "a definite agreement between Russia and the powers which have participated in hostile actions against her or have supported such actions."

The note expressed astonishment for the British action in spending the money for the Russian question, which had been the subject of the conference at London, "would refrain from violating its agreements or imposing new conditions."

FRANCE MAY BE ABSENT
Thatcher's proposal for a London conference was rejected by the British government to all allies. It was not sent to the American government, however. It was understood that if Premier Millerand refused to attend this conference, Italy, England, and Belgium will hold an independent conference with the Russian soviet representatives and delegates from the Russian border states.

While these negotiations are proceeding, fighting between the Bolsheviks and Poles continues almost over the entire front. The reds continue their advance in the southern sectors, at many points penetrating the line fixed by the allies as the Polish boundary.

PARIS IN BALANCE
The conference between French officials and Premier Lloyd George at Boulogne Tuesday is the most important since the original armistice conference with the Germans, in the opinion of diplomatic officials and newspapers here Tuesday. It was declared that the question of universal peace depends on the outcome of Tuesday's meeting.

In French circles, it was admitted the Moscow government had displayed extreme moderation in dealing with the Poles and it was stated that moderation was for the purpose of getting the allies to a conference and that the allies would be persuaded to abandon General Wrangel, anti-Bolshevik commander on the Russian southern front. Wrangel now constitutes a serious menace to the Bolsheviks, it was stated, and the French will be reluctant to hand him over to the soviet.

It was stated, however, that if the soviet would agree to recognize Russia's debt to France, Wrangel could be surrendered.

GOV. COX WRITING "HOT COPY"

Follows Newspaper Method in Preparing Acceptance Speech

HANDLING IT BY "TAKES"

Experience As Reporter Aids Him in Speeding Work

DAYTON, Ohio.—(By United Press.)—In much the same manner that he formerly wrote "a big story" while a newspaper reporter, Governor James M. Cox is writing his speech, accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

As fast as one subject of the speech is completed, Cox "shoots" the "take" down to his newspaper office, where it is immediately set up in type for any slight revisions that he may wish to make. Just as he formerly wrote a "hot" story by paragraphs in order to make an edition, Cox is writing his big speech by "takes" in order that advance copies may be run off his presses within a few minutes after the proof of the last paragraph is corrected. The speed is necessary in order that the speech may reach the Pacific coast papers by mail before the nomination day, August 7. Cox expects to complete the speech not later than Saturday.

DATA PLentiful
In the library of his home, Trails End, Cox is at work on the speech. He is surrounded by numerous large envelopes, each containing all available data on the main subjects of his speech. After digesting all the information on one subject, he calls for his personal stenographer, dictates that section of the speech and sends it to the printer.

Another newspaper habit of Cox is that he makes few revisions in his "copy."

"I have to try to have clearly in mind just what I want to say, then say it and usually make about as many revisions as the average reporter does in writing his story," Cox said.

WILL MAKE "LIVE COPY"
It is known that Cox has been making an exhaustive study of Senator Harding's acceptance speech and that he expects to read the one of Governor Coolidge Tuesday.

Cox was asked Tuesday to indicate what he would say on the prohibition question in his speech.

"I hope to make that speech live copy," was his only reply.

Tuesday the nominee expects to have his last political conference until after the speech is completed. It will be with Senator Comerford, Ohio, member of the Kopyon senatorial committee investigating campaign expenditures and Cox will outline his views on what work along this line should be undertaken before election.

PAY ORDINANCES ARE PASSED

City Employees Get 10 Per Cent Increase, Effective Sept. 1

Ten percent increases in the salaries of city employees are to become effective September 1, according to action of council Monday night.

The ordinances providing for increase in pay of members of the safety department were passed without argument except that one providing for the police force increase was changed to read 25 percent instead of 20, or originally drafted. Thus, according to Chief of Police Roush, takes care of two vacancies now existing on the force.

The increase for the service department was temporarily held up by Councilman Tierney who voted against it, but on a second vote he switched his support, allowing it to pass.

A request of the chief engineer in charge of sewer construction for an increase in salary of $75 per month was voted down by the council. His salary is now $3,500 per year.

3,000 PYTHIANS OF UNIFORM RANK ARE IN CAMP AT CLEVELAND

Uninformed Members of the Knights of the Pythias Turned Away from Camp

CLEVELAND.—Three thousand uninformed members of the Knights of the Pythias turned away from camp on an honor system at Camp Minshall, the home of the uniformed rank during their national encampment here this week. The camp, named after Brigadier General Thomas Minshall, the oldest uniformed knight in Ohio, was formally dedicated late Monday.

The men are allowed to go and come as they choose. No guards will stop them or ask questions. They have been told however that they must be present at drills.

Today's program opened with an assembly of the Ohio brigade on the camp grounds this morning. Recognition was to be the order of the day with a prize drill preceding an outdoor afternoon and evening in an amusement park.

Daughter, Believed Dead, Asks Father Explain Crime

DAYTON, O.—"If you are my daddy, please write to me and tell me why you killed that poor little girl," said Mrs. Ed Dickinson, of Walla Walla, Washington, in a letter received by her father, W. C. Wysock, 65, jailed here for the murder of Georgia Ooten, 15, typist, alleged to have been his sweetheart.

Mrs. Dickinson had not seen her father for 24 years. He had thought her dead. The letter caused Wysock to show the first emotion he has exhibited since the crime on July 8.

UNIONS TO FIGHT NEW R. R. RATE

Public Need Not Bear Burden of Pay Increase

WORKERS' LEADER TALKS

Won't be Made the Scapegoat, He Declares

WASHINGTON.—(By United Press.)—Organized railroad labor will soon make known its definite decision to oppose granting of the full demands for rate increases put forward by railroad executives, it was learned Tuesday.

Back of labor's opposition is the decision to refute the repeated argument that the public must bear the entire burden of the $600,000,000 wage increase recently granted by the railroad labor board.

"Labor does not intend to be the scapegoat," said Edward Keating, former Colorado committee man and now editor of Labor, official organ of the Plumb Plan League, Tuesday.

"We do not propose to see the men get a $600,000,000 increase and then have the railroads use it as an excuse to collect much more than that in increased rates."

SHAMROCK LEADS YACHT RACE

Sloops Again Start for the Final Cup Contest

SANDY HOOK, N. J.—(By Associated Press.)—Shamrock IV led the sloop across the starting line in the "final" international yacht race to settle the destiny of the America's Cup.

The officials starting time was the same for both boats at 2:17:00, because both had failed to cross within the two minute handicap limit.

At 1:45, the code flag "A. R. P." was set, indicating a south-southwest course for the final race. This will give the yachts a 15 mile coast to windward down the Jersey coast from the Ambrose channel lightship to a point off Asbury Park, with a run home.

Having beaten Captain Adams of Resolute, for position, for the first time in the series, Captain Burton crossed the line on the starboard tack.

A surprising feature of the first five minutes of sailing was the way Shamrock held her bow on the edge of the wind. She pointed as well as Resolute for the first time in her fight for the America's cup. She increased her gain as she moved inland and it seemed as if she was getting a better wind aloft than the American. She was about 50 yards to windward of the defender.

Although the official starting time of both boats remained at 2:17:00, Shamrock actually crossed forty-second ahead of Resolute. She flashed across the line at 2:17:05 and Resolute at 2:17:45.

CLUES TO MURDER LEAD WEST

Man Believed to be E. Leroy Reported Enroute to Los Angeles

CHICAGO.—(By United Press.)—Search for E. Leroy, supposed shipper of a trunk containing the nude body of a woman, found in New York city, shifted back to Chicago Tuesday.

Scores of mid-western towns Tuesday were being searched for a man police here believed was Leroy. He left Chicago enroute to Los Angeles, according to police information.

C. G. Finley, Pullman car conductor, told police Monday night of a passenger on his train here from Montreal Sunday night. He said the man was accompanied by a young woman and both acted to arouse his suspicions. Finley said the man's description tallied with Leroy's.

FUEL FAMINE NOW FACING NATION

"Outlaw" Coal Strike Spreads Over Several States

BIG FACTORIES THREATENED

Complete Paralysis of Industries Expected

CHICAGO.—(By United Press.)—Starving for coal, the nation's industries will lapse into unconsciousness before another ten days of unauthorized strikes of coal miners, E. C. Searles, president of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association, unreservedly predicted Tuesday.

Coal operators throughout the middle west Tuesday concurred in the opinion Illinois, Indiana and Kansas strikes threaten the most serious situation the country has faced industrially.

Reports early Tuesday indicated the strike was spreading. Further defections in Indiana and Kansas mines were reported. Iowa miners prepared to confer with operators Wednesday in hopes of securing wage advances and forestalling strikes.

SWEETING EASTWARD
Authorities declaring the strike sweeping eastward, anticipated it would break into flood volume before the end of the week.

"The available supply ranges from two to ten days," Searles said Tuesday. "Railroads and some public utilities have the largest supplies."

Car shortages and transportation angles have prevented any one laying in the large stocks usually prepared for winter. The car supply has curtailed production.

"There is nothing the operators can do but insist the miners comply with the contracts. We have laid the situation before President Wilson and now await his action. We make no recommendations, but fully outlined what condition faces the country."

PUBLIC MUST PAY
"Any increase granted miners, naturally will increase the price for our contract business," Searles said. He said he was not able to estimate the amount of increase to be handed down.

The public indirectly will have to pay an increased price, he said.

Searles held little hope federal conciliators preparing to go to the coal field Tuesday would accomplish anything.

"They, I understand, have no power to act but merely investigate and make a report," he said, indicating the crisis of the situation would be reached before action could be hoped for on the report.

John McCordie, vice-chairman of the Indiana public service commission, said utilities there have only five days' coal. E. J. Wallace, chairman of the Kansas western regional coal committee, declared "many industries may be forced to close unless the strike is ended quickly."

Predictions were made unless the strikes terminate quickly fuel famines face the country for winter months because of the inability of large consumers to follow their customary practice of laying in supplies during summer months.

LEWIS SILENT ON STRIKE
Indianapolis, Ind.—Members of the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America Tuesday had under consideration the unauthorized strike of mine workers in Iowa, Illinois and Kansas fields, it was believed.

John L. Lewis, international president, refused to admit directly that the board was considering action, but the board had been "in regular meeting since last Tuesday, taking up internal and administrative matters."

Operators in the fields affected have not appealed to the international officers to induce the men to return to work. Lewis said he has not been notified officially of the unauthorized strikes. He refused to comment in the absence of what he termed "concrete action."

Lewis went before the board at 10 o'clock. He said he had under advisement the telegram from Ed Stewart, president of the Indiana union, suggesting that a conference be held with the operators.

When Lewis was asked if he would have a reply to the statement from Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois district in which he later invited Lewis to "keep his hands off," the international president said:

"Oh, that tap on the wrist? It didn't even jar my wrist watch."

MINERS CHALLENGE COURT

PITTSBURGH, Kas.—District President Howat, of the United Mine Workers, has issued another challenge to the Kansas industrial court.

With 2,000 men out on strike protesting fines imposed by companies for attempts to establish a five-day week regardless of contract, Howat invited Governor Allen and Attorney General Hopkins "to see if they can get the men to return to work."

Howat characterized the fines as "a disgraceful steal" and promised to help striking miners to more beyond the jurisdiction of the Kansas industrial law, which makes strikes which would curtail production of necessities illegal.

LIMA MAN NAMED ON COMMITTEE

J. H. Goeke to Take Part in Roosevelt Notification

OHIO MEMBER OF COMMITTEE

Goes to Hyde Park, New York, August 9—Things Political

(BY J. W. FISHER)
Quarried last night as to the ability of the Ohio Electric to provide several passenger cars for the transportation of members of the Allen-Cox and Roosevelt club to Dayton on August 7, for the notification ceremonies, Vice President J. H. Goeke stated that the necessary cars could be provided, at a rate of fare in keeping with the ruling of the interstate commerce commission.

A meeting of the Lima branch of Friends of Irish Freedom will be held at the court house Wednesday evening, to hear a report of the activities of the organization in Chicago and San Francisco during the Republican and Democratic national conventions. This organization is active in aid of the efforts of the people of the Emerald Isle in fighting for their freedom.

Lima people who have become greatly interested in the new way from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic through the St. Lawrence river, and have noted that in his advocacy of free trade for American ships thru the Panama canal, Senator Harding is championing the coastal states already benefiting from this canal, built largely at the expense of the middle west and lakes region, whose industry and commerce are affected adversely by the Panama competition. Neither the senator nor the Republican platform specifically advocate the middle west's argument against the Panama canal—the St. Lawrence route. The Democratic platform specifically promises the construction of this project. Senator Harding will therefore remain at a considerable disadvantage in the middle west until he has corrected his position.

Attorney J. H. Goeke, a delegate from the 4th congressional district of Ohio to the Democratic national convention at San Francisco, has been designated as the Ohio member of the committee appointed to notify Franklin D. Roosevelt of his nomination as the Democratic candidate for Vice President. The notification will take place on Monday, August 9, at the Roosevelt home, Hyde Park, New York. Mr. Goeke will attend and take part in the ceremonies.

That an extraordinary effort will be made to have a good representation of people of Lima and Allen-Cox at the notification at Dayton, Saturday, August 7, was indicated Tuesday by the sentiment among members of the Cox-Roosevelt club on the proposition to run special cars over the Ohio Electric to Dayton on that date. It is proposed to charter as many cars as are needed, engage a band if possible and make the trip in great style, with banners on the sides of the cars. Allen-Cox Democracy is ready to do its part in making the Dayton meeting a success, officers of the Cox-Roosevelt club stated Tuesday.

Chief Deputy Joe Madigan of the Board of Deputy State Supervisors of Elections of Allen-Cox and his assistants have the ballots ready for the primary election to be held in every precinct of the county on August 10. They will be placed in the hands of the judges and clerks of the election at the proper time, before the primary election. The ballots for the county precincts are delivered on August 7, and for the city on August 9.

Hon. George W. Mannix, Jr., Common Pleas Judge in Darke-co, a resident of Greenville, came to Lima Tuesday in the interest of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination of member of congress. Mr. Mannix passed thru a severe siege of illness, but has thoroughly recovered and is looking better than before his sickness. His Darke-co opponent, Hon. John Fisher, visited Lima a few days ago. These men are active contestants for the nomination, as are also Congressman D. F. Welby of Allen, and L. M. Studevant, of Shelby-co.

MORE FINED ON CHARGES OF TRAFFIC VIOLATION

Alleged traffic violators were fined in criminal court Tuesday morning as follows: E. H. Wentworth, 21, Lima, driving car without headlights, $5; Paul Miller, 19, N. Elizabeth-st., parking car in safety zone, $1; W. J. Brown, 23, 1947 Forest-ave., violation of orders of traffic officer at Main and High-sts., $5; Cemer Meyers, 23, Allentown, driving auto with one headlight and no tail light, $5; Marion Miller, 24, 304 Atlantic-ave., driving car without headlights, $5; David Splitter, 25, 210 E. Market-st., driving motor-cycle without headlights, $5.

NEW WAGE SCALE ASKED
Request of Local No. 339, International Union Steam and Operating Engineers for a minimum wage scale ranging from 39 cents an hour for chief engineer to 50 cents an hour for helpers when employed by the city, was referred to the finance committee of the city council last night.

MRS. GEORGE SOLOMON APPLIES FOR PASSPORT FOR TRIP TO GERMANY

Mrs. George Milton Solomon, Monroe-st., took out passport in the office of Ira F. Clein, clerk of courts, Tuesday, to sail for Germany in October.
Mrs. Solomon was born in Hildesheim, Germany, and she is going back to that country to visit her parents. During the war for many months she received no word from them and she feared they were lost or had died.
Mrs. Solomon is one of a large family. Word at the close of the war brought the information they were all alive and well. She will go to Holland and then make her way into Germany from that country.

SALOONISTS GET REFUND

Judge Bailey Allows Money For Days They Closed

Lima saloonkeepers who petitioned for a refund from their state and county taxes during the street car strike of August, 1917, the influenza epidemic and headless period, will be shown $40.57 from the county and $48 from the state each, according to the decision of Judge John P. Bailey, Ottawa.

Judge Bailey heard arguments in the case in April. He has just rendered his decision.

He did not grant the amount asked for by the sixty former saloonkeepers during the business in Lima. He allowed five full days during the street car strike and riot, two full days during the influenza epidemic in December, 1918, and four full days for the headless period, as enforced by the state, when one afternoon a week all places of business were forced to close. On account of early closing from October 19 to November 14, he allowed 124 hours. This order was promulgated by the city board of health. The headless period will be paid from the state treasury and the remainder, at a refund of $2.75 a day, from the county treasury.

E. C. Akerman, tax expert in the office of the county auditor, checked over the 60 names and found that O. S. Kiser, H. W. Bishop, Victor Frankfort and Theo. Norlor had not paid their Dow-Aiken taxes at the time of the street car riot, that Edward Schlatter had not paid his tax at the time of the flu epidemic and that Fred Harrison has not paid his tax at all.

This, it is said, will have a bearing on the amounts allowed them, as a result of the refund.

H. W. Bishop, former saloonkeeper, 201 E. Market-st., filed the petition in behalf of himself and 59 others.

LIMA AND MONTANA MEN MEET TO RECALL HAZARDS OF WORK IN THE WAR

Ralph M. De Ver of the engineering department of the Lima Locomotive Works is spending the week in Chicago as the guest of his friend W. C. McClellan of Livingston, Montana, who was an old pal while in the service. They have been together since those dark days in France where their only recreation was riding observation balloons, looking for German submarines. This was one of the most hazardous branches of the service. While in the air they were exposed to all kinds of air currents and weather, together with the German anti-aircraft guns and while on board the destroyer carrying tons of T. N. T., the highest explosive known to modern science and apt to let go at any instant and send all to a watery grave, Mr. De Ver has always let hazards and adventures since childhood. He has the distinction of making six parachute drops from one ascension, which is something never attempted before nor since. It is expected that he and Mr. McClellan will be seen on the local screens in the near future in some of their death-defying, hair raising stunts above the clouds, if the movie camera can reach them.

CITY STREET CARS ARE BEING REPAINTED

Vice President J. H. McClure of the Ohio Electric is being complimented by many citizens on the improved condition of city street cars that have been repainted and repaired since the strike. "Five or six of the cars have been repainted," said McClure last night, "and all of our passenger equipment, about 25 cars, will be given similar treatment. Paint artistically applied makes the old cars look like new."

COUNTY ENGINEER TO ELIMINATE "DEATH JOG"

Harkening to the request of numerous persons who have pointed out the danger to motorists that exists at a point two and a half miles southeast of Delphos on the Spencerville place, County Engineer Miller has had the necessary survey made looking to the elimination of a "jog" in the highway. Numerous motor accidents are reported to have occurred at that point.

PUBLIC SQUARE FLAG POLE TO BE REMOVED

Final disposition was made of the flag-pole in the public square Monday night when a recommendation of the safety committee that it be taken down was adopted by the city council. They recommended that a sum of money not to exceed $140 be appropriated for this purpose. Referred to the finance committee. The committee's report was to the effect that the pole is safe as high up as the guy wires, but above that it would require constant attention.

JONES OBSEQUIES ON WEDNESDAY

Passing of Prominent Citizen Brings Sorrow to Many

Final services for Dr. Arthur L. Jones, city health officer, who died suddenly in an automobile while returning to Lima, Sunday night, will be held Wednesday at 2 o'clock at the residence, 1241 Lakewood-ave.

Rev. Walter D. Cole, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, and Rev. J. J. Swanson, pastor of the First Congregational church, Ravenna, former pastor of the First Congregational church of Lima, will officiate.

Representatives of the city, the health officer, Lima lodge of Elks, the Masonic order, the Knights Templar, and the Rotary and Lima club, of which he was a member, will attend.
Expressions of sorrow from persons in every walk of life are heard because of his death. In homes where he had restored to health little children, which was one of his specialties to his councils in most mature illness, his name is upon every lip.

The funeral tributes were many and beautiful, filling one of the rooms of the home and representing sympathy, not only from the various organizations to which he belonged, but from the more meek and lowly, who deeply appreciated him and his services.

Pall bearers at the services will be Judge F. C. Becker, Charles F. Stokanovich, J. J. Jorney, Harry O. Bentley, Thomas D. McLaughlin, Ernest Baird and Dwight Bailey. The body will be laid to rest at Woodlawn.

EXAMINATIONS
Regular Lima City Teachers' Examinations will be held at Central High School July 28th and August 29th, beginning at 8 o'clock. Teachers desiring to take either examination should previously notify the Superintendent of Schools in writing, and those entitled to certificate re-examinations should make personal application for same upon one of the above dates, at the examination room.

OHIO ELKS REUNE IN LIMA

Thousands of Visitors Coming on September 7, 8, 9

A reminder of the fact that Lima is to have the honor of entertaining the 30th Ohio reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks on September 7, 8, and 9, came with the holding of a meeting by the general committee of Lima Lodge No. 54, last night, to start the ball rolling in the matter of arrangements for the great event, that is expected to witness an assembly of 15,000 visitors in this city.

Walt Dewesse, Peter Hulsken, Fred Calvert, Karl Holm and Karl Fletcher are the members of the committee. A contract was awarded to the Art Decorating company of Cincinnati for the elaborate decorations that are to feature the state event of Elksdom here in September. The principal decorations will be erected in the public square in the form of a court of honor. Eight large columns will be erected, two at each entrance of Main and Market streets to the square and the Elks' colors, purple and white and the national colors, the red, white and blue, in pennants will be provided in profusion all about the square. Live oak branches will also be employed in the decorations and the square will be brilliantly lighted at night. The decorations in the square and in the downtown streets will be of an unusually elaborate character and out of the ordinary. They will be very lavish.

The 1920 convention of the Elks of the Ohio reservation was voted to Lima at Columbus last year, where the local members made a wonderful showing with a uniformed contingent and the famous Elks' Hussar Band. Winning first prize. Because of the great showing made at Columbus, the 1920 reunion was voted to Lima. One of the biggest features of the reunion will be a parade, in which the various lodges of the state are expected to participate in large numbers, with marching hosts, bands, floats, etc.

The famous float placed in the parade at Chicago by the Lima lodge, in the recent national convention, which won second prize for this city, has been shipped to Lima and will be reassembled for the parade here in September. Philadelphia won first prize over Lima at Chicago, although first honors were accorded to this city by newspapers. To afford Lima people and the Elks of Ohio generally an opportunity to see the wonderful float, typical of the golden hours of childhood, it will be placed in the state reunion parade in Lima streets.

The float, chairman Dewesse of the local committee stated Tuesday, features a merry-go-round, as typical of the most absorbing pleasure of childhood. A picture of the float evidences its grandeur. State officers of the Lodge of Elks are cooperating with the Lima members. The slogan of the committee is to "show Ohio what Lima looks like when dressed up." This means that the decorations will be of an unusually elaborate character.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE
NEW YORK — Foreign exchange quotations were higher at the opening today. Prices were: Demand Sterling 378.1-2 unchanged, francs 0.779, up .007, under the new system of quoting; lire 0.552 1-2, unchanged and Marks .0245 unchanged.

THE CAUSE

We hear much these days about money being close and building operations retarded through difficulty in borrowing money.

To a large extent, July of this year is like July of other years in the matter of loans upon real estate, because at this time interest is paid upon millions of dollars deposited in Lima financial institutions which must take precedence over the making of new loans.

The point of difference is that now, more than ever in Lima's history, many persons are tempted by glittering promises of stocks and "speculations" warranted to bring wonderful returns. No doubt some of these purchases are good, but many more will prove disappointing.

Your largest financial interest is in the prosperity of the community in which you live. Prosperous business at home will pay you the largest dividends.

Keep your money in Lima financial institutions. They will pay you a good rate of interest and you know the principal is safe; you will then have a part in building up the city, your money being used to assist home owners and home industries.

The Allen County Savings and Loan Company in the Savings Building, Corner Market and Elizabeth Streets, pays five per cent interest on deposits, and invites you to open an account.

ASYLUM TERRORS ARE REMOVED

Patients at State Hospital Receive More Attention

Patients in Ohio's state institutions, among them the Lima state hospital are receiving more attention and consideration now than ever before, according to annual report filed by the Ohio board of administration.

Instead of the cribs, straight jackets, total seclusion and other strict disciplinary methods, the insane in Ohio's institutions today receive all the benefits of modern practices that have combined to remove the terrors of the oldtime "lunatic" asylums.

Among the modern methods now in operation are laboratory diagnosis and rational treatment, classification of patients in wards according to their mental conditions, the granting of greater liberties, and the promotion of occupational and recreational activities.

Made patient at the Lima state hospital are allowed to work on the farm, in the gardens, in the laundry, kitchen and bakery, provided their physical condition is such that the work will not interfere with their health.

The women sew, crochet, do weaving, basketry, and practically all manner of handwork, which is frequently sold. They also assist in the inside work at the hospital.

For their amusement are the baseball games, picture shows and weekly dances in vogue. Musical programs and the like. Careful attention is given to the religious of different patients and services are held regularly for Protestants, Catholics and Jews.

The mission house, conducted by the Catholic sisters, every Sunday at the hospital, while local ministers conduct Protestant services.

One of the ever present thoughts in hospital doctors' and nurses' minds is that patients in state hospitals are regarded as mentally ill and must receive just as careful treatment as persons who go to general hospitals for physical illness.

The Lima state hospital for criminal insane is one of the most modern in the country, as well as one of the largest. At present there are more than 400 patients, less than a third of which are women. Dr. Charles Clark, superintendent, is assisted by a large staff of nurses and doctors.

O. E. FRANCHISE UP WEDNESDAY

Council Committees Are to Consider Issue

The tentative ten year franchise agreed upon between the light and franchise committees of the city council and the officials of the O. E. may be effective August 1, depending on action of a special meeting of the city council called for Wednesday evening.

City Solicitor Garling explained to the council Monday evening that the temporary ordinance passed in January will expire at that time and unless a new one is passed, the light company will have the right to file a new schedule of rates with the State public utilities commission.

The question of an increase in street car fares in the city was discussed informally with council Monday evening. Vice President J. Harvey McClure said Tuesday he will ask the council for an increase in fares until the appraisers finish their work and a permanent franchise is completed. He said this proposition will be that the fare be increased to go into the operation of the plant, any surplus to be used for improvements.

COMMERCE FORUM WILL HEAR RIVER BOND ISSUES AT LUNCHEON AUG. 4

Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt, Mr. W. Hughes and Attorney L. J. Lewis are to be the speakers at the commerce forum luncheon of the Lima chamber of commerce, to be held at the Lima house Wednesday, August 4.

The speakers will be allotted 10 minutes each to speak in favor of the river improvement bond issue. Secretary Irving E. Lincoln said Tuesday following the luncheon, a meeting will be held at which the present will be expected to participate, he said. Three minutes will be the time allotted to each person.

OHIO POSTMASTERS TO MEET AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS — Close to 400 members are expected to attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Postmasters Association which opens Wednesday at Elks Home here.

Business sessions likely will occupy the greater portion of the day. In the evening, there will be a banquet in Elks' Home, at which Joel C. Clark, postmaster of Cincinnati, will present to James I. Blackless, fourth assistant postmaster general, an oil painting of Retain Jonathan Meigs, former governor of Ohio, who was postmaster general during the administrations of Madison and Monroe.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks to all the relatives and friends who so kindly assisted us during the long illness and after the death of our beloved husband and father. Also to those who sent the beautiful floral offerings, the singers for their beautiful songs, Rev. W. D. Cole for his many visits and comforting words, Mr. C. C. Williams for his services and to those who furnished automobiles.

Mrs. F. H. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Maurer and children.

BOYS TO AID FARMERS COLUMBUS. — Rural high schools will immediately enter upon plans whereby high school boys may be released from their studies in order to work on farms. This was announced after a conference between superintendents of many rural high schools and Verne Kiesel, state superintendent of instruction.

War On Mosquitoes Last Order Of Dr. Jones

Now is the time of lamentation, good people!

Now is the season of despair upon us with all its accompaniments of weeping and railing and smashing of fists.

The enemy is in the offing. And the advice of physicians is to get your large bottle of citronella.

For "mosquitoes" are here. The first buzz has been heard and the first bite felt.

Instructions to make the city as unappealing as possible for the summer pests were issued by Health Officer Jones just before his sudden death.

Water is declared to be the breeding place of the insects. Therefore, all premises or receptacles that contain stagnant water should be removed. Old tin cans, barrels and open rain water cisterns come under the ban.

Manholes of conduits and sewers should be covered with crude oil in cases where water used for washing is standing in the open, a film of kerosene should be poured over the top. No uncovered stagnant water should be left on the premises whatsoever.

The slogan is to breed no mosquitoes on your premises and you must have to kick about them afterward.

PROMINENT FARMER JOHN S. LAMAN, DIES MONDAY IN MARION-TP

John S. Laman, 45, farmer, Marion-tp, 9 miles west of Lima, died at his home, Monday afternoon, after an illness of two years. He was the son of Joseph Laman and was born in Marion-tp, June 24, 1872.

He was a member of the United Brethren church, Elida. Besides the widow, four daughters and a son survive.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 10 a. m., at the United Brethren church, Elida. Rev. Mr. Biddle will officiate. Interment will be at Walnut Grove cemetery, near Delphos.

ENGINEERS TO MEET Lima chapter of the American Association of Engineers will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening to elect permanent officers, acting secretary Vaughn C. Miller announced Tuesday.

Make Yourself Stronger

People with strong constitutions escape many minor ills that make life miserable for others. Don't you envy the friend who does not know what a headache is, whose digestion is perfect and sleep undisturbed?

How far do you come from this description and have you ever made an earnest effort to strengthen your constitution to build up your system to ward off disease and discomfort?

Everyone cannot have perfect health but unless you have an organic disease it is generally possible to improve your physical condition by attention to the rules of health, the first of which is to keep the blood built up.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain just the elements needed to build up the blood and restore the lost color and vitality. Now energy circulates through the system with the enriched blood, the heart stops its alarming palpitating, color returns to cheeks and lips.

Nothing more is needed except sunlight, good air, proper food and rest. If you do not know exactly what rules to follow in these matters write today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the booklet, "Building Up the Blood." Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid on receipt of price 60 cents per box.

INCOME TAX PAID BY FEW

Revenue of 103,000,000 Put at Less Than $2,000

WASHINGTON. — (By United Press). — Approximately 103,000,000 persons are living on $2,000 a year or less, according to an analysis of income returns Tuesday.

The population of the United States is unofficially estimated at slightly more than 105,000,000. The remaining 2,000,000 persons paid the bulk of $4,410,284,874 in federal income, excess profits and miscellaneous taxes collected by the federal government for the fiscal year ended June 30, as announced Tuesday.

The smaller group is estimated to include about 20,000 persons in the millionaire class, or those with incomes of $50,000 a year or more. This figure is used because it represents five percent on $1,000,000. Approximately 4,000,000 tax returns were filed for this year, according to an estimate Tuesday by

S. B. Hurry, assistant commissioner of internal revenue. They indicate that the average salary in the United States is far below $2,000 a year.

Slightly less than 2,000,000 persons filed returns on incomes ranging from $1,000 to $2,000 according to the estimates. Two thousand dollars a year, therefore, represents the maximum income for approximately 98 percent of the population.

According to a careful study made by the labor department not less than $2,250 is needed to maintain in "decency and comfort" a family of five in Washington. The study was made one year ago. Price increases since then probably have raised the "decency and comfort" standard, officials said Tuesday.

"Both bride and bridegroom were smiles throughout the ceremony." D. M. P.

Cured His Rheumatism!

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over 50 years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain, my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day, with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as try to get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive uric acid out of your blood and body. It took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out the truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders, and recover his strength from 'The Inner Mysteries' now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of 'The Gentleman' wishes 'The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism' overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a post card or letter to H. P. Clearwater, 106 X Street, Hallowell, Maine. Send now, lest you forget. If not a sufferer, cut out this notice and hand this good news and opportunity to some afflicted friend. All who send will receive it by return mail without any charge whatever."

Washington Monument Elevator Man Has Long Record.

ON JOB FORTY-TWO YEARS

Travels Twice Distance Around World in That Time.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Twice the distance around the world, or nearly 40,000 miles, in an elevator is the record of James B. Evans, operator of the "lift" in Washington Monument, and it is believed to be a world's record.

This fall Mr. Evans celebrates the forty-second anniversary of his service at the monument, thirty trips a day for forty-two years. When the monument was first built, the shaft was only about a third of its present height and, except for the use of the workmen, no elevator had been installed. That was in 1878, and it was not until ten years later that the shaft was completed and the passenger elevator put in operation.

MADE FIRST TRIP. That elevator on its first trip was operated by Mr. Evans, and since that date he has been continuously in charge of the car.

Practically all the famous men and women who have visited Washington during that time have been passengers in Mr. Evans' elevator, including each of the Presidents and Vice-Presidents.

The monument was one of the first public edifices visited by President Wilson when he came to Washington eight years ago. Of the present Chief Executive, Mr. Evans says:

"Yes, he seems to be a right nice sort of fellow. Came into my car and took off his hat just as anyone might do. I noticed he didn't say much—just talked a few words to the men with him. I liked his looks as well as those of any of the other Presidents that have ridden in my car."

Mr. Evans was away on his vacation when the Prince of Wales and the Belgian royal family visited the monument and he looks a bit wistful when he mentions missing the Belgians.

CARRIED NOTED PERSONS. "I carried a 'kew' of Princes to the top," he said, "but I never had a chance at a real live King and Queen before."

Mr. Evans figures that in the past thirty-two years he has made about 250,400 trips in the passenger elevator. On each of these trips the car goes about 540 feet up and the same distance down, making a total of something like 119,216,000 feet that it has traveled, or about 50,000 miles.

"That's twice around the earth," Mr. Evans commented. "I bet no other elevator conductor in the world can equal that."

Picturing it in years, the veteran estimates that he has spent about six years traveling in his elevator.

ARE YOU 100 PERCENT PERFECT?

Why Some Women Keep Radiant with Youthful Health and Beauty, While Others Become Weak, Pale and Careworn—

Science at Last Discovers a Subtle Secret of How Any Woman Who Is Nervous, Irritable and Run-Down, May Quickly Increase Her Strength and Make Herself far More Lovely and Attractive Without Cosmetics or Stimulating Drugs—Physician Explains.

Since modern science has at last brought forth amazing facts of how people become weakened and run-down, pale and haggard, care-worn and prematurely old—often simply because of the lack of those life-giving substances—the vitamins—most astonishing results are being reported everywhere. The remarkable experiences of nervous, delicate, sal-low-complexioned women—worn, fretful and unattractive—would surely seem to show that practically any woman who is not afflicted with some organic disease may often quickly build up the radiant life, splendid vitality and matchless beauty of perfect health simply by getting sufficient vitamins into her system.

In explaining the startling success being obtained by administering Vitamon, when practically everything else had failed, Dr. John J. Rudolph, Former Health Commissioner, late of the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital, and Columbia Hospital of New York, and a Graduate of the University of Baltimore, says: "Don't blame your physician or the beauty specialist—don't blame your creams and lotions or cosmetics—and don't blame yourself if your body is not tingling with energy and vitality—if your nerves are all unstrung—if your face looks haggard, your cheeks hollow, your complexion sallow and lacking in the radiant beauty and attractiveness which Nature intended should be yours. One recently has discovered what you actually need and what your body must have to build vibrant strength, new vigor, energies and keep up a buoyant health and life which are absolutely necessary to make steady nerves, a clear lovely skin, it is nothing more or less than the lack in many every-day foods of a health-building, life-giving, beauty-creating substance known as vitamins. Scientists have found to be responsible in

GOOD ADVICE—"SEE OHIO FIRST"

AN EXCHANGE comments on the fact that "see America first" has been a popular slogan and that it has persuaded some people who had contemplated very costly trips to Europe, to learn about their own country before they familiarized themselves with another continent.

Seeing America is all right. It is the proper idea. Our people should see their own country before visiting another. We here in Ohio should go farther than that. "See Ohio first" is also a good slogan. Ohioans travel all over the country to see famous places and never have visited some of the remarkable places within the confines of their own state.

There are numerous interesting things in Ohio. There are many scenes of great natural beauty, fine cities and towns, centers of historic association, industries known all over the world. There are places of scenic beauty in all parts of Ohio that are well worth seeing. A visit to the great inland lakes, the reservoirs in Mercer, Auglaize and Logan-cos and near Columbus will amaze those who have never before laid eyes on these great storage lakes.

And there is the Mt. Tabor cave that might be mentioned, fully as interesting as the Mammoth cave in Kentucky, even if it isn't so large. Summit and Cuyahoga-cos afford scenes of grandeur in gorges and hills that, tho in miniature, are equally as interesting as similar scenes in Colorado. And the hills of Southern Ohio. They afford one a general idea of the grandeur of a real mountain range. There are scenes along the many rivers of the state of Ohio, even the old Auglaize, that are a revelation. Up along Lake Erie and down along the Ohio river at the southern end of the state may be seen a feast of things to gladden the eye and add to the fund of proof that it will profit anyone to "see Ohio first."

POWER FOR THE FUTURE

NECESSITY has resulted in most inventions to lighten man's load and the same impelling force probably will solve the problem of future power. It is certain that as long as the resources nature has stored in the earth last, man will go on using them. He will supplement them with water-power and manufactured fuels, but when it becomes necessary for him to tap some undeveloped source, he will find a way to do it.

Going direct to the sun now seems to be the most likely place for getting power after we have used all to be had from the earth. Experiments have been made along this line and it has been found that heat may be stored and power generated from the sun's rays. The matter of doing this in a laboratory experiment, however, is far from commercializing it and making the plan practical for use in a general way. None can foresee what difficulties will be encountered, but that it will come ultimately there can be no doubt. Some scientists of high standing declare this accomplishment is overdue now and assert it is the immense inertia of men as a whole and their satisfaction with resources now at hand which prevent speedy development of sun-power plants.

MISS LIMA: "Peaches have an advantage over raspberries, in that the seeds don't stick in one's teeth."

"MOVIES" IN THE SCHOOLS

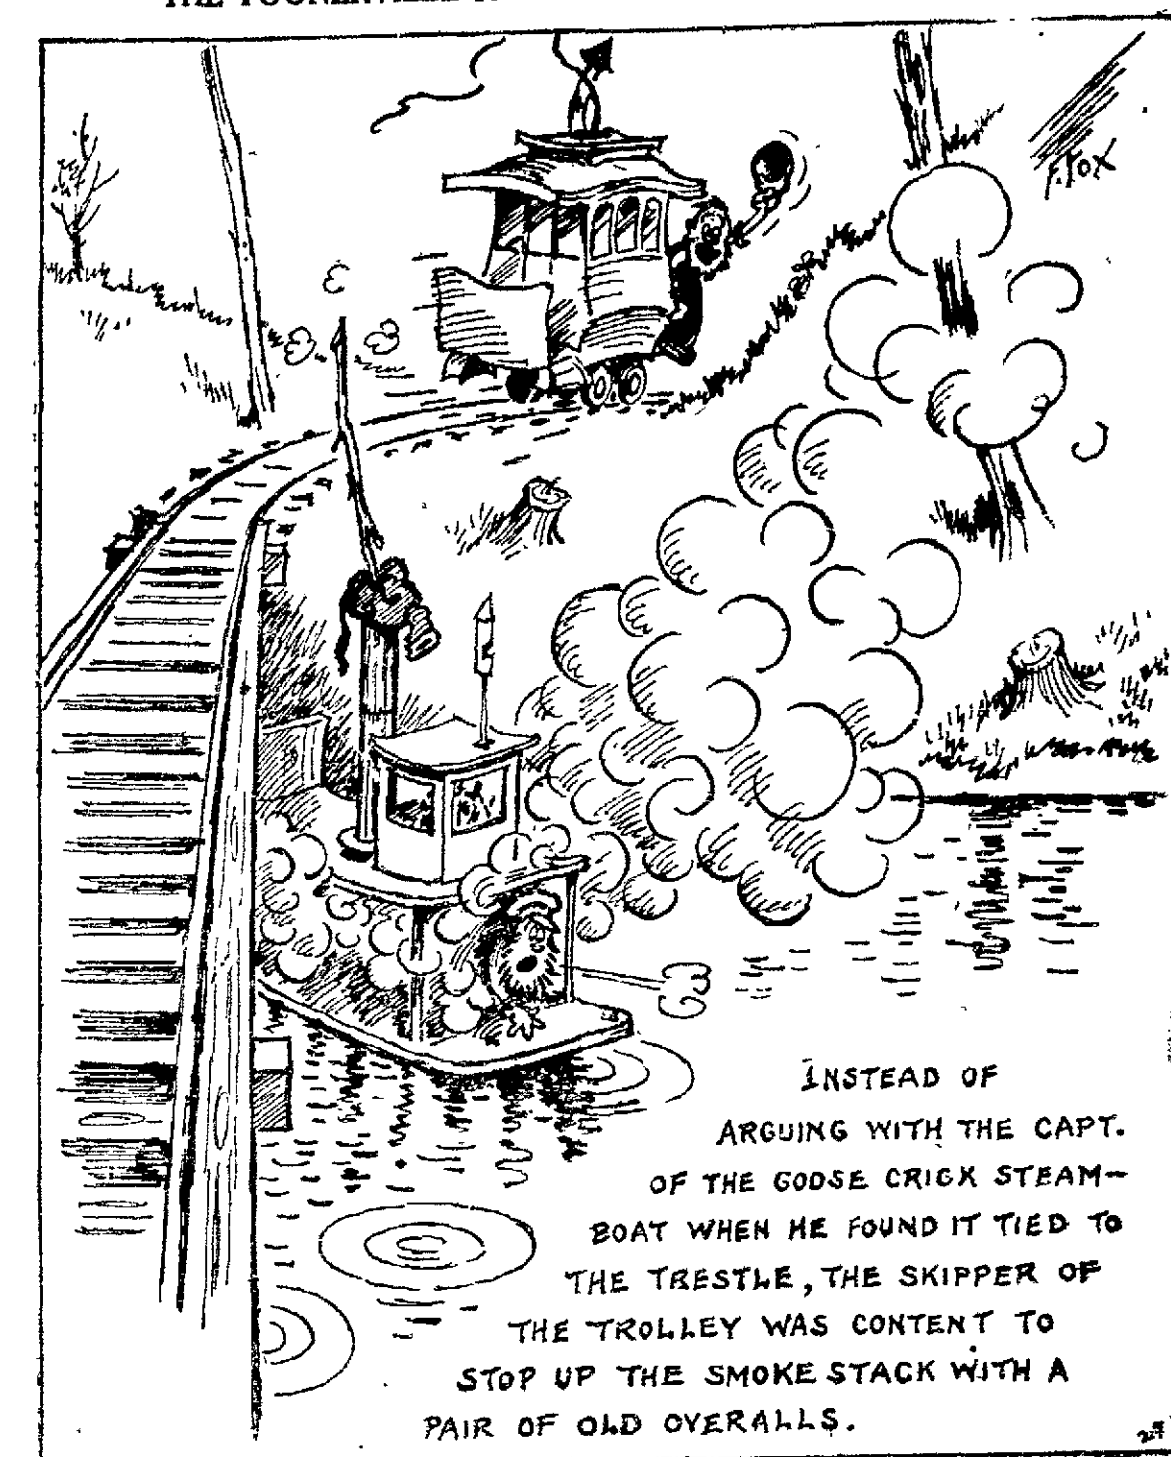

IT IS EASY to see that by following the program of the Visual Education Association so far as this plan provides for the placing of motion picture machines in every school, a vast amount of good will result to the school and to the students, says the Dayton News. The one feature of the scheme which may serve to retard its progress is to be found in the disposition of the association to ask cooperation of congress. Without going into a discussion as to whether congress would possess the right to make such provision (and there would be many arguments seriously provided on both sides of the question), it is apparent that the ultimate cost, $19,500,000, for such national undertaking, in large measure would have to be borne by the individual schools. In the course of time, perhaps right now, there may be sufficient sentiment to warrant the belief that thousands of school boards would be willing to make provisions for the installation of motion picture machines in the various school buildings coming under their supervision. But the Visual Education Association, with its extensive program will serve in an admirable manner in the direction of wakening public sympathy in behalf of the need for visualizing the events of the day and the study of important subjects thru the medium of the motion picture device. We have arrived at that point in the history of the country when we can afford no longer to eliminate any method of instruction that will clarify the subject taught to students. The increasing demand of the times is for a practical course in education. Children early in life are being attracted to specific studies. They are forming ideas in their youth that they will follow up in more mature years. This being so how much more necessary it is that educational ideals be changed to meet new conditions. To fail in recognition of this urgent need cannot but have a disastrous effect upon young minds. Instruction always is best understood when visualized properly.

GIRLS! BEWARE

IMMIGRATION problems are presenting a new aspect to American girls. Thousands of girls, seeking to escape spinsterhood in a land not so crowded with females, will flock across the sea from Europe. Already they have started to arrive and many American girls may see them take unto themselves American husbands.

Another condition which is attracting them is the shortage of domestics in this country. Many housewives will welcome them if they are able to get maids, which now are worth their weight in gold, but there are shirrings of doubt in the minds of many women in this country as to the advisability of admitting them. Many feel that it will be a little hard for the girls here, handicapped as they are now in their search for mates due to the high cost of everything, to admit foreigners who may enter into the pursuit and at the same time take many of the good jobs to be had.

However, there remain several months of Leap Year when the weaker sex is supposed to have a great advantage. This opportunity can be resorted to if the foreign damsels appear to be getting too great a hold on the situation.

HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.
A SANE VACATION—9
Wound Infection.

ALTHO we have passed thro the antiseptic era of surgery and traveled far in the aseptic era—the era of absolute surgical cleanliness as opposed to the blunder use of germ-killing and tissue-cell-killing chemicals—there are still people so benighted as to imagine that "blood poisoning" is caused by such things as iron rust, verdigris, the dye, clothing, and most deplorable of all, by "taking cold" in a wound. While such false notions prevail, there are bound to appear many wound infections which should have been preventable. If an individual with a trifling scratch, puncture or abrasion of the skin surface doesn't know how such little wounds lead to serious septicemia ("blood poisoning") he is bound to apply intelligent precaution in the way of first aid; he is much more likely to apply some dirty mess which purports to be a "healing" salve—whatever kind of salve that may be.

When we started out on this vacation journey I gave a list of the essentials of the emergency kit and if you saved the list you will find that it contains two drams of tincture of iodine—enough to prevent at least forty cases of wound infection or blood poisoning. Iodine is useful as well as ornamental. Dab on once to every twenty-four hours or about once every four hours. Once it is plenty. Do it immediately. Then let nothing touch the wound unless sterile. A sterile dressing, which is excellent for small wounds which are not bleeding, is a coat of flexible colloidal, two drams of which you will find in the kit. Or if the edges of the cut or wound tend to gape, following the iodine swabbing they may be drawn together with strips of adhesive plaster, a one-inch spool of which we included in the kit. Before either colloid or adhesive is applied the wound must be perfectly dry. Take care that neither fingers nor anything else not sterile shall come in contact with the surface of the adhesive or with any other surface which is to be placed upon the wound.

A larger wound may be swabbed with the iodine and then immediately covered with a pad of sterile gauze, two sealed envelopes of which you will find in the kit. In order to prevent sticking of the gauze to the wound, squeeze out upon the surface of the gauze which is to touch the wound a generous lump of sterile petrolatum (vaseline) from the collapsible tube in the kit. Then cover the gauze with pieces of waxed paper or the leaf of bread we bought at the last station, to prevent the vaseline from permeating the dressing, and hold the dressing in place either with strips of adhesive plaster or with one of the bandages.

Once a wound is dressed, let it severely alone for a week unless it becomes uncomfortable, and in that

JUST A GIRL

BY JANE PHELPS
HORACE SAUNDERS PROPOSES

"Zena, I love you! Do you, can you, care enough for me to be my wife? Wait—I am older than you are, but not too old to make you happy if you will trust me," Horace Saunders said to me.

This was more as the men proposed in books than Jack Pryor's taking it for granted. I suddenly felt very solemn—very grown up.

"Oh, I don't think I shall ever marry! Not for years and years!" I almost laughed as it flashed over me that I had used the very same words I had when Jack asked when I was going to marry him.

"I know that perhaps you feel that way now, but won't you let me try to make you love me. I feel sure I can," he pleaded.

Love goes where it is sent," I tentatively replied.

"But you don't dislike me?"

"Oh, no, I couldn't dislike anyone who danced as divinely as you do, and who is so kind and thoughtful. But I think I'm here. I added with all the wisdom of my 19 years.

"Will you try to love me?"

"There's no use in trying—when you don't want to do a thing. And I don't want to get married."

"I shall not give up hope that I may make you change your mind."

"I shan't! So don't hope."

He said a lot more to me about loving me, not being willing to give me up at all. It was really thrilling, so like I had always supposed men talked—just as they did in fiction. Finally he left me and I rushed in to Dad:

"Well, that's over!" I exclaimed.

"What?"

"That proposal—Mr. Saunders'."

"Um—what did you tell him, if I may ask?"

"Of course you may ask!" I climbed onto his knee. "He said he would teach me to love him, and a lot of things. But I told him love went where it was sent; that I liked him because he danced divinely, and was nice to me, but I didn't love him, and didn't want to get married."

"What did he say to all that?"

Dad's eyes were twinkling.

"He said he wouldn't give up hope. It was just like it is in the novels—the proposal, I mean. They always end up by saying they won't give up hope, you know?"

"What did you say, then?"

"I told him I wouldn't change my mind, so not to hope."

Dad asked no more questions, but I knew by the way his arm tightened around me that he was pleased.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT

Most of the stars are friendly today. It is a fortunate time for launching any enterprise. Women are likely to suffer from malicious gossip under this rule. Increase in crime will cause alarm in the late summer according to the stars. It is a woman's era and reforms for which women have been working for several generations will reach attainment before another year is past. Persons whose birthday this is should guard against worry, the year will prove fortunate for them, despite conditions. YOUR NAME

By Philip Francis Nowlan

VARIATIONS — Brownson, Bronson, Browne, Bruner, Brunell, Burnell, Burnett.

RACIAL ORIGIN—English.

There is one big difference between family names and languages. Languages change inevitably unless they be the so-called "dead" languages, preserved only in classic literature. Names may change more radically than many words.

Education and literature always exert a restraining influence on language change because the individual, either consciously or unconsciously, associates spelling as well as sound with the meaning and also strives to keep spelling and pronunciation together, except where the latter becomes too difficult. When communities do change the pronunciation of words it is to make them easier to speak. Family names have been practically susceptible to this sort of change because they have lost their original significances and have become merely "tags" designating this, that or the other family. Furthermore, a man feels free to take greater liberties in the spelling of his own name than in that of "the king's English."

The name Brown, with all the foregoing variations, means "brown." At the period when the growth of population demanded something more than a given name to distinguish one individual from another there were many dark-complexioned persons who were known as "John le Brun," or "Wymarc le Browne," etc., and these words came to distinguish their children as well as themselves, the many of the children may have been blonds.

Diminutive endings and the twisting of syllables to suit individual tongues have done the rest in the course of time. Families in which tradition has run strong have preserved more of the original spellings. Others have been influenced by the change in the word denoting the color or to alter the spellings of their names in accordance.

JUDITH OF BLUE LAKE RANCH

By JACKSON GREGORY

JUDITH'S PERIL

"The better to see you by, my dear!" was Quinlan's word of greeting. Judith made no answer. She drew a little farther back into the shadows, a little closer to the things she had hidden among the fir-branches.

"Ho," sneered Quinlan, his mood from the first plain enough to read in the glances of his face and in the added harshness of his voice. "Mind little fawn, huh? By God, a man would say from the bluff you put up that it was all a dream about finding you an' handsome Lee in the cabin together! Stan' off all, you damn place! I've come to tame you, you little beauty of the big innocent eyes."

Not drunk, no, Quinlan was never drunk. But as he came a step closer, the heavy air of the cave heavier with the whiskey he carried, whisker, enough to stimulate the evil within him, not to quench it.

"Stand back!" cried Judith, with a sharp intake of breath. "I want to talk with you, Chris Quinlan."

"Go you, why am I, do you? Well, much good it'll do you."

"I know you are and what you are," she told him defiantly, suddenly sick of her long hours of playing baby, knowing, at the moment, less than hatred and loathing. "Listen to me, Bayne Trevors has come out in the open at last; he has made his big play and is going to lose out on it. Your own chance now is to let me go and to let yourself go, for when the law knows the sort Bayne Trevors is and how you have worked hand and glove with him, it will know just how much his word is worth when he swears you were with him when father was killed! Coward and cur, and murderer!"

Quinlan laughed at her. "Little pussy-cat," he jeered. "You've got claws, have you? And you spit and growl, do you? Want me to let you go back to that swagging lover of yours, do you? Back to Lee?"

"That's enough, Quinlan," she said sharply.

"Is it?" He laughed at her again, and again came on toward her, the red-rimmed evil of his eyes driving quick fear at last into her. "Enough? Why, curse you and curse him, I haven't begun yet! When I'm thru with you I'll go fast enough. And he can have you then an' damn welcome to him!"

"Stop!" cried Judith. "My God, a man didn't reach her ears now, but as he kicked the fire at his foot and the flames leaped up and showed his face, she read the laughter in his soul; head it thru the gleaming eyes, the twisted mouth which showed the teeth at one side in a horrible leer. His long arms thrust out before him, he came on. "Oh, my God!" cried Judith. "My God, suddenly she was silent. She thought that she had known the uttermost of fear and now for the first time did she fully know what terror was. His strength was many times her strength, his brutality was unbounded, she was alone with him. There was no one to call to, not even the mad woman."

She was shaking now, shaking so less afraid of what lay below than what came on behind her. She was gripping the ledge now with her hands, already torn and bleeding, her feet swinging, touching sheer rock wall, slipping, seeking a foothold. Quinlan was just there, above her. She must move, her hands so that she could not reach her. It seemed eternity that she hung there, seeking a place somewhere to set her feet.

She found it, another, lesser ledge which she had almost missed, and knew that this way she had clambered upward with Bayne Trevors. If she could only find another step and another before Quinlan came upon her! She held her club in her teeth; she must not let that go.

Quinlan was over the ledge, following her. She heard his heavy breathing, heard him cursing her again. She was going so slowly, so slowly, and Quinlan would know the way better than she. Quinlan would make better time in the dark. She moved, along this lower ledge. At each instant she wondered if it were to be her last, if she were going to fall, if a swift drop through the darkness would be the end of life.

Suddenly there was scarce room in the girl's breath for hatred of Chris Quinlan, so filled was it with the love of life. She wanted to see the sun come up again, she wanted the sweet breath of the dawn in her nostrils, the beauty of a sunlit world in her eyes. She thought of Bud Lee.

Clinging to the rocks, hanging on desperately, taking a score of desperate chances momentarily, she made her way down. She found scant handhold and, almost falling, dropped her club, heard it strike, struck again. Black as the night was, the gloom was less than that of the cavern to which Judith had grown accustomed; little by little she began to make out the broken surface of the cliffs. The chasm below was a pool of ink; above were the little stars in the eastern sky, low down, was a promise of the rising moon.

The surge of quickening hope came into her heart. Had she hurt Quinlan more than she had guessed? For, slowly as she made her hazardous way down, it seemed to her that Quinlan came even more slowly. Could she but once get down into the gorge below, could she slip along the course of the rushing stream, she might run and the sound of her steps would be lost even to her own ears in the sound of the water; the sight of her flying body would be lost to Quinlan's eyes.

Then she heard him laughing above her. Laughing, with a snarl and a curse in his laugh, and something of caldorous triumph. Was he so certain then?

"Ruth!" called Quinlan. "Oh, Ruth! The girl's gettin' away. Go in! Down the rocks. Head her off at the bottom!"

Judith had found, because her fate was good to her, the long slanting crack in the wall of rock up which she had come that day with Bayne Trevors. There was still danger of a fall, but the danger was less now than it had been ten seconds ago. She could move more swiftly now and confidence had begun to come to her that she could elude Quinlan. But now, suddenly, she heard Mad Ruth's voice screaming a shrill answer to Quinlan's shout; knew that Ruth had been in her cabin across the gorge and was running to intercept her at the foot of the cliffs.

Well, still there was a race to be run and the odds not entirely uneven. Ruth must descend the other side of the canon, get down into the gorge, make the crossing, which, so far as Judith knew, might be farther down stream, come to the cliffs below Judith before Judith herself made her way down.

Again Judith took what risks the night and rocks offered her, and thanked God in her soul that it was given her to take a chance in the open, to use her own muscles in her own fight, not to lie longer, playing the part of a do-nothing. Now and then, across the void, there floated to her a little moaning cry from the mad woman's lips. Now and then she heard a curse from Quinlan above, often from above her, from below her own feet, from across the chasm, dropping stones, falling almost sheer, told of haste and death which might come from an unlikely help.

Fast as Judith went now, having a fast sort of cliff trail under her, Mad Ruth went faster. The gorge measured a scant fifty feet between them and the girl's alert senses told her that already Ruth was on a level with her. Ruth was winning in the desperate race. She had to be down so perfectly, her heart was so filled with madness, that danger was nothing to her.

Down and down climbed Judith, caution wedded to haste, as she told herself that she had a chance yet that that chance might not be tossed away in a fall, though it were but a few feet. She must have no sprained ankle if she meant to see the sun rise to-morrow.

The flash had brightened in the sky where the moon was so near the ridge. The moon, too, had joined in the race; with one quick glance toward it, Judith again discarded caution for haste. She must get down into the floor of the canon before its pallidness showed her out to Quinlan and Ruth.

Her hands were out and bleeding, her heart was beating wildly, ready her body was sore and bruised. But these things she did not know. She only knew that Quinlan was still coming above her, and coming more swiftly now, quite as swiftly as she herself moved, since his feet, too, were in the better trail; that Mad Ruth had completed the descent across the abyss and by now must be crossing the stream upon some fallen log or rude bridge, that one minute more, or perhaps two, would decide her fate.

She could see the stream, glinting palely in the starlight. It seemed very near; its thunder filled her ears. Down she went and down, down until at last she was not ten feet above its surface, with a strip of rocky sloping bank just under her. She stooped, took firm hold upon a knob or boulder, prepared to swing down and drop to the bottom. And, as she stooped, she heard a little whining moan just under her and straightened up, tense and terrified. Mad Ruth was there before her, Mad Ruth was waiting.

ONE WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE
Of Interest to Expectant Mothers

Goshen, Ind.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results after I had suffered for some time from female trouble. Some years ago I had twin boys and took your Vegetable Compound before they came; also before my first great old boy was born and afterwards, and think it fine for such cases. I tell others and you may publish my testimonial."

—Mrs. Geo. A. Foss, 711 S. 9th St., Goshen, Ind.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared to understand how to properly care for herself. Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once children there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong, and this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy contains no narcotic or harmful drugs.

OUTDOOR LIFE always WHETS the APPETITE for SWEETS like EDGEMONT COOKIES and CAKES

The natural craving for sweets is sharpened by outdoor life—such as tennis or golf, baseball or hike, picnic or outing, riding or swimming, auto trip or work in the fields.

And aren't we women lucky to be able to serve such wholesome cakes that are so tempting in appearance, so attractive in design, so dainty in coloring and so convenient to get?

Just think how we used to spend hours and hours in hot kitchens baking cakes—using our butter and sugar and eggs, working and worrying and then not being sure that our cakes would turn out right.

Now we can go to our neighborhood grocery—and from his stock of Edgemont Cookies and Cakes, all of them always unusually good, select just the Cookies and cakes that suit the particular sweet tooth of each member of the family.

Bon Bons in a variety of flavors. Delightful combinations of sugar or honey cakes and fluffy marshmallow.

Southern Molasses Cakes or Honey Sweets, besides dainty "Parfait" or "Edgemont" Sugar Wafers.

Chocolate Cakes for those who prefer chocolate.

Old Fashion Cookies, the kind that children of all ages like so well.

Semi-Sweets like Graham Wafers, Imperial Wines, Lemon Crackers.

Spicy Ginger Snaps so popular with everyone.

Every one delightful with COOLING beverages, FROZEN dainties, LUSCIOUS fruits or as DESSERTS.

The double enameled green tin and the G. & G. trade mark is your guide to unusual goodness in Cookies, Cakes and Crackers—at your neighborhood grocer's. If he hasn't all varieties in stock he can get you exactly what you want on short notice—for we maintain a fleet of trucks giving daily service.

LOVE AND MARRIED LIFE

BY IDA MCGLOTH GIBSON

ELIZABETH MORELAND'S LETTER

Alice looked at me sympathetically. "I knew that she was convinced as I was, but to clinch matters I opened my pocketbook and read her a note from Elizabeth Moreland, which had evidently been sent me in mistake for one she had intended to send John."

"You see, she wrote 'Mrs.' instead of 'Mr.' on the envelope," I pointed out. "The expression of curiosity on Alice's face turned to disgust as she read the first sentence in this letter. I knew it by heart, and was repeating the words to myself as I saw Alice glance along the page. 'Do you still love me?' I presume every woman asks that question of her lover, whether she gives herself inside or outside the pale of marriage, and so I am asking it of you, dear heart, this morning—do you still love me? For whatever you may think John, I have always loved you, every thought I have in my head in the world has been of you and for you, and—"

"If one should praise my face, dear heart—"

The words were pleasant to my ear. I closely guard each vaunted charm, dear heart. I will sometimes hear. And understand, I would be beautiful—"

To You

If one should say my form, dear heart—"

Were cast in nature's fairest mold. The pleasing lie I would not scorn, dear heart.

If he told you the fable bold—"

For know, sweetheart, I would be grace itself—"

To you.

If one should think my eyes, dear heart—"

Were wells of passion deep and wide. His thoughts of wisdom I would prize, dear heart. If you but quenched your thirst beside.

Desire is sweet; drink from the cup I hold—"

To you.

If one should give my mind, dear heart—"

Some extra merit not its due. Excuse for him I'd try to find, dear heart. If you thought what he said were true.

Oh, lover mine, have I been all in all—"

To you?

"She never composed that poem," said Alice viciously.

"Does it make any difference whether she did or not?" I asked.

"What are you going to do now?" was Alice's question.

"I don't know; I don't know. I will have to think."

"I am going to send for John and I am going to tell him just exactly what I think of him," said Alice. It is a thing that I and I only can work out."

Cruel to Go Away

"But I hate to leave you, dear. It seems so cruel to go away and leave you all alone, when you are feeling this way. Are you to think that you have had this note with you all this time and have spoken to Elizabeth Moreland and made no reference to it?"

"Whatever else she may be, Alice, I know one thing, Elizabeth Moreland loves John Gordon. Loves him better, perhaps than I do, and I sometimes think I am wrong in not letting her have him if she wants him. I think, my dear, I am going to ask him if he wants her more."

that John was surprised that I took it so easily.

Gives an Ugly Laugh.

"Oh, I see, you are not particularly worried, are you? You still have the house on your hands."

"I shall not accept it. I do not understand how you could have sold it without my knowledge."

"Well, dear, I cannot do anything for you, and so I must go home."

"You will forgive me if I say that I shall be happier alone."

Alice put her arms about me, but she did not attempt to kiss me. She understood that I could not bear even her caresses at such a moment.

Then she slipped out of the room just as John came in.

"Well, what did you buy?" he asked.

"I didn't buy anything."

"What was the matter?"

"I didn't go."

"It doesn't seem to me, Katherine, that you have any regard for how the bills at this hotel are piling up."

You promised me this morning that you would get into the new house as soon as possible. But you are dawdling along here in a fashion I cannot comprehend."

Perhaps you will be able to do so when you read this telegram."

I was surprised at my own coolness. I seemed to be acting a part, and I had no interest in it beyond its effect upon my audience, even when John exclaimed, "I wish Goodwin would attend to his own business."

I said nothing.

WELLS STORIES TO REMAIN INTACT

Author to Make Scenarios for Filming of His Novels

WANTS TO RECOGNIZE THEM

Lima Movie Theatre Offerings—Latest Gossip of the Screen

NO scenario writer will rewrite the stories of H. G. Wells for production in the movies. Wells is going to make the scenarios for the filming of his novels himself.

That's under a contract just arranged with Famous Players.

"I want to be able to recognize my novels," says Wells.

In making his decision, Wells is following the example of a number of American novelists.

Rex Beach, Guyenour Morris, Mary Roberts Rinehart and others have found that by writing their own scenarios the result is always completely satisfactory to themselves.

More than that, it's satisfying to the spectator in a greater majority of cases than when the professional scenario writer does the screen adapting.

A picture which Mary Roberts Rinehart supervised is to be shown in Cleveland next week.

It's a film version of her story "Dangerous Days." Dynamite figures conspicuously in "Dangerous Days."

One scene shows the wrecking of an office by bomb plotters.

The action takes place in the United States during the war and shows how German plotters are caught.

The cast includes Lawson Butts.

Barbara Castleon, Ann Forrest and Clarence Selwyn.

NEW YORK

Colonel J. F. Hunt, former commandant of Fort Jay Military prison, held in connection with escape of Grover C. Connolly, draft evader, released from technical arrest in quarters.

"Just One" Is All

MUTT AND JEFF—MUTT TOOK THIS JUST THE WAY THE LITTLE FELLOW MEANT IT—

Short Shavings

A young artist out on a sketching trip, says London Answers, came across a sturdy youngster, carrying a rod and quite a big catch of fish, and for a consideration induced him to pose for a sketch. In a few minutes there came along a man whom every sign proclaimed to be a father of a family. For half an hour he stood watching the artist at work; then he burst out in admiring enthusiasm:

"Well, sir, if that isn't wonderful! Bents all I ever saw!" "Like the sketch, do you?" the flattered artist responded with a pleased blush.

"Sketch? Oh, that! Yes, it's all right, I expect. What I meant was the way you have managed to keep that boy quiet for so long."

The other day at a musical two elderly gentlemen were seated near the rear of the house. A neatly built lady began to sing and during the course of the song one of the men remarked, "That is some fierce song. I wonder who wrote it?"

"I did," meekly replied the other.

"Er—ah—pardon me, my dear sir, perhaps it is the singer and not the song?" the way, who is that woman with such an awful voice?"

Very quietly and softly the other replied: "My wife."

"You belong to the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, don't you?" asked the caller.

"Yes, I'm one of the officers," replied the man at home.

"Well, here's a song, I dedicated to your society. I'd like to sing it to you."

"All right. Wait until I put the cat out of the room."

EXCESSIVE ACIDITY

Make Your Own BUG KILLER P. D. Q.

You can easily make at home a full quart of the strongest bug-killer for 25¢, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas and ants. This recipe will not burn, rot or stain the clothing and is entirely different from any other formula we know of, as this will kill the eggs.

Prepare of your dearest a six-ounce bottle of (Peaky Devils Quinine) P. D. Q. then you will have the chemical made expressly to rid floors, floors and dwellings of pesky bedbugs and other insects.

Impossible for the pesky devils to exist with the proper use of P. D. Q.

Special Hospital size $2.50—makes five gallons—your druggist has it or he can get it for you or send prepaid either by the Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind., upon receipt of price. Look for the devil's head on every package.

(Formerly $3 and $5)

Silk Shirtings in Crepe and Tub Silks, $2.25 and $3.25 yard.

Plain and Fancy Jersey in Navy, White and Castor, 50 in.—$7 yard.

Fancy Tricotee, 40 in.—$5 yard.

Tinsel Georgette $5. Many other Reductions.

How Much Power at the Wheels?

MOTOR power is not car power. Much motor power is lost in its delivery to the rear wheels.

But this loss can be reduced to a minimum by correct lubrication of the "power line"—the transmission, gears, universal joints, differential and rear axle bearings.

And correct lubrication of these parts means the use of a lubricant which will prevent wear without offering resistance to power.

Polarine Transmission Lubricants are supplied in three grades, one of which will correctly lubricate the transmission units in your car.

Polarine Transmission Lubricant "A" A heavy fluid oil—the correct lubricant for transmission and differential gears and bearings, where case construction is tight.

Polarine Transmission Lubricant "B" A semi-fluid grease for transmission and differential lubrication where construction is such that leakage would occur with a fluid oil.

Polarine Transmission Lubricant "BB" A semi-solid grease for transmission and differential lubrication where gears and bearings are badly worn and case is not tight.
